and the stars. Poor angel, but I should not say poor, for have not the illumined line of prophets rewarded you? Yes, they have, and men gaze today upon an exact image of your crowning Utah's Mormon temple. There you stand blowing your trumpet to the east to awaken that idolatrous pagan stubborn east to the sweets, the lights of Mormonism and illuminations of Sjodahl. Poor angel, I am afrald your task is a hopeless one; no, I should not say altogether hopeless, for one Sjodahl heard your blowing, and, lo, he came!
